
SMART GIRLS CENSOR WARDEN COMMENTARY

Thursday, 22 October 2009

Last Updated Thursday, 22 October 2009

For the past two months Warden, aka "The Notorious Mexican Flag Burner," has persistently questioned the leadership of both the Tucson Tea Party and Smart Girl Politics organizations in search of an answer to the following question that nobody else wanted to ask...

"Do Your Organizations Represent True American Grassroot Populist Movements or Are You Merely Shills for Right Wing Republicans?"

Today the Smart Girls Organization answered Warden's question definitively by banning him from further access to their site.

"Yesterday I had a blog on the Smart Girl Website, where we discussed issues like the true meaning of our Constitution, entitled 'The Power of the First Amendment,' Warden said.

"Today I have been banned from commenting on any Smart Girl blog, including one dealing with Amnesty and Immigration Reform and another concerned with grassroots movements where people were beginning to question the heavy Republican influence on the commentary, and the fact that both Tucson Tea Party and Smart Girl Politics websites were used to promote Republican commercial interests responsible for Pima County Open Border Policy."

In other words: Rather than engage in debate on the issue the Smart Girls decided to ban Warden from any discussion whatsoever.

Censorship, and the banning of political discussion on issues deemed "controversial," are the same tactics the Communist and Nazi Parties used when they sought to obtain power in the early part of the twentieth century.

"Follow us,' they said.

"We're the good guys. We're For the People!"

Then, when people started to question the motivations of leadership of both movements the Communists and the Fascists shut off any debate and banned any speech which questioned leadership.

"What the Smart Girls have done today is to engage in the same old propaganda B.S. that has brought this country to the point of catastrophe," Warden said.

"Both Republicans and Democrats seek to divide the American people. Both parties have engaged in partisan deception to such a degree there is no longer honest debate on any of the issues.

"Elections have become a confrontation between dueling propagandists."

Warden believes Republican propagandists are particularly cynical and skillful when it comes to pitting American against American.

"We're Patriots," Republicans like to tell us.

"Obama's the Devil! He's a Communist! Follow us! We've got God on our side! We're Conservative!"

Propaganda is always odious, especially when it is colored Red, White and Blue.

So listen up readers: Don't be surprised when Independents start leaving both the Tucson Tea Party and Smart Girl Politics movements, and don't be surprised to see Republicans continue to lose elections.

Because: when it comes to feeding We the People with the same old Partisan 'Malarkey' we've been getting from both parties for the past 50 years, Elephant shit tastes just as bad as Donkey shit, make no mistake about it.